

RADIO DJ (V.O.)
 (from the car radio)
 Hey, this is D.J, James! You're listening to me on Kiss One oh Eight!

Amara chuckles, shakes her head at how DJ repeated the jingle.

RADIO DJ (V.O.) (CONT'D)
 We're back here with Heph! Anyone who hasn't heard of him... is probably under six years of age.

LAUGHTER.

RADIO DJ (V.O.) (CONT'D)
 The man who founded "The Minoan Cafe," and produced the highly acclaimed show, "The Minotaur." Now, Heph the show's going on hiatus?

HEPH (V.O.)
 (from car radio)
 Yes, one of our leads is leaving and--

Amara turns down the radio to silent.

AMARA
 (disgust)
 Heph. Gross.

Hyle appears in the passenger seat next to her.

HYLE
 Misogynist. Exploiter--

Amara stops at a stop light. City bus pulls up next to her--

CITY BUS WITH "THE MINOTAUR" BILLBOARD

Image: Belissa's Barbie-like face. Belissa is the star of the show. Words: "Irresistable. Belissa is Aphrodite.
 The Minotaur. Only At The Minoan Cafe, 254 West 20th St."

AMARA IN CAR

Seeing Belissa on the billboard-on-wheels makes Amara think--

AMARA
 Imagine dancing with her...

HYLE
 No! That would be a risk. To become an accountant is safe. You wanna leave the sex industry, right?

AMARA

Oh yes. And I'm sure the show is just mumbo-jumbo. "Spiritual sex."

HYLE

Just focus on making that income.

Light turns green, Amara goes.

AMARA

On the other hand, couldn't I become
"somebody" by being in the show?
Maybe that would make mom proud?

WINGED AMARA appears in the back seat.

Winged Amara is a continuation of the Female Dance Judge.
Because Amara's no longer watching Dancing With The Stars,
the same actor who plays Amara (and Hyle) plays Winged Amara.

We kinda met a version Winged Amara when we saw Amara in the dungeon with her wings torn off. When the wings spoke to Amara, it was Winged Amara's voice.

Winged Amara has her wings attached. And there's no blood.

In fact, Winged Amara looks celestial. Celestial eyes. Gold skin. Glows. And, as indicated before, she's always calm.

Now, Hyle is the superego, i.e., the conditioned voice telling us what society says we're supposed to do. Winged Amara is the higher self--what links us to beyond social norms and space-time. She's the still, small voice within us all.

Winged Amara is nude. Not lewd. Innocent nudity. The kind of "Garden of Eden" nudity--no shame, no learned social-norms.

NOTE 1: To reiterate, the wings allude to Plato's description of the soul (in Phaedrus).

NOTE 2: Just like Amara can't see Hyle, Amara can't see Winged Amara. We can though. Amara can only hear their voices.

WINGED AMARA

Don't do it to become "somebody."
Do it to become. Do it because it comes from the heart--

HYLE

La-la-la-la-la!
(to Amara)

You're thirty. The dream of dancing is bullshit and childish. Become an adult! Nine-to-five.

(MORE)

HYLE (CONT'D)

Might make Aunt Savannah proud, too.
Show her the gratitude for adopting you...

AMARA

Yeah. Maybe I should reach out to Kennedy and Mackenzie again. I do wanna make Savannah happy too...

Amara turns into work.

INT. BREASTAURANT - DAY

Amara hula hoops and dances for the restaurant with joy.
She moves well, has stage presence. Name tag reads: "Nicolle."

Restaurant CUSTOMERS watch captivated. Like Hooters, this Breastaurant sports bar & grill has a fun feel of summer.

Amara finishes. Restaurant cheers. She smiles, waves.

INT. BREASTAURANT - DAY (LATER)

Amara delivers beers to MALE CUSTOMER #1, MALE CUSTOMER #2 and MALE CUSTOMER #3, all 30s.

MALE CUSTOMER #1

Thanks! And nice dance. Hey, you know that chick who's plastered all over the place, looks like Barbie?

MALE CUSTOMER #3

You know that's Belissa, man.

MALE CUSTOMER #1

Belissa, whatever, I forgot her name.

(back to Amara)

I bet you could give Belissa a fucking run for her money.

Amara's shy, soft-spoken, maybe insecure, somewhat nerdy.
Nerdy like the Lake Bell character in No Strings Attached.

AMARA

No way. Belissa is like the most beautiful woman in the world.

MALE CUSTOMER #2

(to Male Customer #1)

Hell the fuck yeah, man! You could give Belissa a run for her money.
You the hottest chick here girl.